

BIG FEATURE ASSURED FOR 1926 ANNUAL

Many Improvements Planned For Athletic Section of Book INNOVATIONS

Subscription Campaign Coming on Well—Closes Dec. 17

The Athletic Editor of Old McGill 1926 has received a promise from Dr. A. S. Lamb, head of the department of Physical Education to contribute an article for the Annual. Promises from other persons prominent around the University are in the mail and are expected within a few days. A considerable amount of work is already being done on the Athletic portion of the book, and a layout that is unique and that will include many improvements over that of previous books is promised for this section of the volume.

The subscription campaign is progressing well according to information received by the board from various classes yesterday. Once again the board reaffirmed its decision to absorb the government tax of the circulation warrants. This means that an additional reduction in the price of the book is quite possible. "To put the matter very definitely, we will pay the cost of the tax ourselves if we can sell 1200 or more books. This is about the same quantity as was sold last year. The results of the campaign have been very satisfactory so far, but we wish to remind all students that the subscription forms will only be circulated until next Wednesday, the 17th." The above statements were made yesterday by a member of the Annual Board.

All the individual pictures have been taken and work on the class groups being done this week and should be completed by the holidays. After the January examinations the club and society groups will be taken. Practically all the biography forms have already been returned.

A prominent feature of this year's annual will be photos of different buildings and scenes around college. There will be no blank spaces at the end of pages as there have been in the past. The board is going to considerable expense to have these spaces filled out with interesting snaps.

The 1926 annual is being designed so that it will appeal to students of all years, and not only to juniors. A very large amount of space is being devoted to matter that is of general interest.

Judging by the number of names that have already been placed on the subscription list, the system of having in price of the book deducted from the caution money is as popular as ever. "No cash required to buy the 1926 Annual" has become almost as popular a slogan as Price of 1926 Annual has been reduced, but the number of pages will be increased."

City Cousin: "Saut up, Si! The curtain hasn't gone up yet; all that you see are the ladies in the box-parties."

COMMITTEE ELECTS M.W.S.S. OFFICERS

The first committee meeting of the McGill Women Students Society was held at eight o'clock Tuesday evening in the Faculty room of the R. V. C. The following officers were elected:— President: Miss Gurd General Sec. Tres: Miss Brooks The four constitutions:—

- (1) The McGill Women Students Athletic Ass'n.
- (2) The revised constitution of the Delta Sigma Society.
- (3) Student Christian Movement of R. V. C.
- (4) Proposed constitution for the McGill Women Students Society—were read and discussed, and clauses added to some of them.

Owing to the formation of the new McGill Women Students Society the constitutions of the subsidiary societies will have to be revised so that they may accord with the constitution of the new society.

Further business was brought up and the meeting closed after a discussion about the election of officers for next year.

RESIDENCE FOR WOMEN STUDENTS

Corporation Urge Reconstruction of Arts Building

That the Corporation of McGill University is wide awake to the necessity of providing student residences is attested by a report made public yesterday. At a meeting of this board it was announced that the property at No. 708 University street has been purchased as a women's residence. At present the Royal Victoria College accommodates women students in Arts but the new residence will be restricted to women arts students.

This building will be ready for occupancy next year and will accommodate 12 students.

It was further announced that the six houses on Lorne Crescent, deeded by the Late Lord Strathcona to the Government to be used as a drill hall, and which had been given to the University by the Government, was sold by the University for $45,000 and we learn with much joy that this money is earmarked for the erection of the new symposium.

The Corporation passed a resolution suggesting to the Board of Governors, with due deference, that, "in view of the congestion of the Arts Building the reconstruction of this building be a first charge on the University." Surely this suggestion is a timely one, and should cause the most pessimistic Arts student to shed copious tears of joy.

COURSE FOR PH. D. DEGREE IS CHANGED

Preliminary Examination at End of Second Year

BENEFICIAL

Many Students Writing for Higher Degrees this Session

Plans which involve considerable change in the course of study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at McGill were submitted to Corporation and have been approved, and are now in the hands of the Executive Committee of the Faculty. Under the new system, a candidate for the Ph. D. will undergo a preliminary examination after two years of study, and will thus be free to devote all of his third year to the preparation of his thesis.

The plan in detail follows:— The first two years shall include instruction, training and direction in the field of the candidate's Major and Minor subjects. These courses of study shall be so planned as to give a knowledge of his particular subject, its relation to cognate branches of learning, and of preparing him for productive scholarship.

After the completion of the examinations in languages and in his Minor subjects, a Preliminary Examination shall be held at the end of the second year of the course. This examination shall cover all the graduate work previously taken, by the candidate and may include any work fundamental thereto. The examination shall be both written and oral.

After his thesis has been received and approved, a special and more searching examination into the subjects more intimately related to it, will constitute his final oral examination. This examination shall be held in the presence of the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

The details of this plan are now being considered by the Executive Committee of the Faculty.

An itemized list of the subjects in which various candidates are writing for higher degrees, this year and the number writing in these subjects follows:—

FIRMS HELP BUILD MCGILL EXTENSION

Contribution of $55,000 Announced at Governors' Meeting

FIRE LOSS $25,000

Several Appointments Made—Regret Death of Dr. Morison

A contribution of $55,000 from four well-known firms towards the cost of the new extension to house the Electrical Engineering Department of McGill University, now being erected at a cost of $80,000, was announced at a meeting of the Board of Governors of the University held yesterday in the Board Room of the Canadian Pacific Railway offices, Windsor street. The firms contributing are the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, the Shawinigan Water and Power Company, the Bell Telephone Company and the Northern Electric Company Limited.

The extension will be completed by May 1. It is being erected over the old one-story foundry and smithy adjoining the Workman Building, towards the back of the MacDonald Engineering Building, with which communication will be established by a covered bridge and passage. It will comprise three floors, each with an area of 8,000 square feet.

The first floor will be given over to the senior electrical students and will have direct access to the present high voltage laboratory on the ground floor. The second floor will be for the use of junior electrical students and as a general laboratory, while the third or top floor will be given over to electrical measurements and standardization for graduate students' research. The flat roof will be used for the erection of apparatus for communication experiments.

The extension will provide increased accommodation and facilities for the training of men in communication engineering and the turning out of highly trained signal engineers. It is expected to be formally opened on Founder's Day early next fall.

APPOINTMENTS

The Board of Governors approved the following appointments: W. L. Bond, K. C., appointed Professor of Dental Jurisprudence. Dr. F. A. L. Lockhart, appointed Associate Professor of Gynecology with a seat on the Faculty of Medicine; Dr. C. A. Dawson, head of the Department of Sociology, appointed Associate Professor of Sociology; Dr. Paul Villard, appointed Associate professor in the Department of Romance Languages; Sanford M. Rosenthal, of Baltimore, appointed lecturer in Pharmacology. Eugene Lafleur was re-elected representative of the Graduate Society on the Board of Governors for the term of three years.

Dr. A. W. McClelland was appointed to succeed the late Dr. J. B. Morrison as professor of Orthodontia.

Reports submitted to the Board of Governors on the fire which broke out last Friday afternoon in the south-west wing of the Physics Building placed the damage in the neighborhood of $25,000. The damage to the building was estimated to be slight, about $3,000, the bulk of the damage arising from the total loss of valuable instruments and equipment in the destroyed Optics Laboratory, some of which cannot be replaced.

The loss sustained by McGill University in the death of Dr. James B. Morrison, Professor of Orthodontia in the Faculty of Dentistry, was expressed in the following resolution:—

"That the Governors of McGill University express in their minutes their deep regret in the death of Dr. James B. Morrison, Professor of Orthodontia in the Faculty of Dentistry. They would record their gratitude for his faithful services to this university of which he was a distinguished graduate, and likewise their great appreciation of his quiet and unostentatious but earnest and beneficent efforts in his special field of learning—efforts which in war and in peace had always for their object, the welfare and comfort of his fellow-men large numbers of whom today sincerely mourn his early demise."

A gift of $300 from Miss Isabella McLennan for the Travelling Library was announced at the meeting. Those in attendance were: E. W. Beatty, F. C. Lord, Alastair, Col. Robert St. John, C. E. Neill, F. Howard Wilson, W. M. Birks, Walter Nelson, Harold R. Drummond, J. S. Archibald, W. R. Miller, A. J. Brown and A. P. S. Glasco.

OPPOSITION CAUCUS AT UNION TO-DAY

Liberal-Conservative Party Prepares for Next Session

PLANS TO BE MADE

Political Rumours Rife And Conservatives Reorganize

The leaders of the Liberal-Conservative party, will occupy the Opposition benches of the House at the next session, have called a general caucus of the party in the hall room of the Union to-morrow at five o'clock.

The purposes of this caucus are to decide upon the policy of the party and to reorganize the central administration in charge of campaigns. The feeling is running very high throughout the party ranks, that the new government, is destined for a short period in office, and all efforts will be made to oust the Liberals at the coming session. When interviewed yesterday, the Right Hon. J. C. Glasco, leader of the Opposition in the new house, said, "Our party is awaiting with interest the appearance of the Liberal party as the Government. We are anxious to see the legislation which they will introduce, and from the rumors which have come to my ears, it appears that their first step will be the introduction of a Parliament Bill providing for the limitation of the powers of the Senate. This has always been a subject close to our hearts and we are, if this is the case, then, to have one of the oldest foundations of the Liberal-Conservative platform flung in our face. This will give our party a chance to ride in defence of the constitutional organization of Canada, and I am sure that such a bill will give the followers of my party an unequalled opportunity to speak from the bottom of their hearts, in protest against such an extremely radical move."

Political rumours are noticeable in the usual abundance, which usually precede a session of the house and it is said that a third party has been formed to occupy the cross-benches. The Government at present refuses to divulge any of their plans, but from all indications, they will soon publish a statement of policy and announce the bill for the coming session. If it is as Mr. Glasco says, another Parliament Bill, there is bound to be a hot debate. The Opposition with their Liberal-Conservative views will fight tooth and nail to prevent its passing and while the Government will be committed, the actions of a new party cannot fail to arouse a certain amount of interest.

The Conservative caucus to-morrow is open to all interested, and it is understood that the plans will be laid then for the forthcoming fight.

LITERARY LECTURE IN STEVENSON HALL

The fourth of the series of twelve lectures on the "Interpretations in Literature" will be held this evening at eight o'clock in Strathcona Hall on Drummond Street. The lecturer for this evening is Carleton W. Stanley, M.A. (Oxon), and his subject will be "Samuel Butler." All those interested are cordially invited to be present and hear an entertaining lecture, but those intending to be present must be there early since at last week's lecture, the hall was crowded to capacity and some people were turned away.

There will be one more lecture before Christmas, viz., on December 18th, Prof. H. D. Brun, Ph. D. of Macdonald College will talk on "John Macfield."

These lectures are being conducted by the Montreal Y.M.C.A. Schools and are open to the public free of charge.

Voice from the unknown: "Z. M. did you return E. L's ring after you broke the engagement?"

Z. M.: "Certainly not. I think as much of the ring as I ever did."

BASKETBALL TEAM READY FOR U.S. TRIP

Held Snappy Workout Last Night as Final Preparation

GOOD MATERIAL

Dartmouth Will Field Strong Team—Vermont's Strength Unknown

The senior basketball team held its last practice last night in the M. H. S. in preparation for the trip across the border. They are in good form at present and Coach Van Wagner has been correcting whatever deficiencies were noted at the Y. M. C. A. game last week. The practice last night took the form of a light workout, including passing, shooting and dribbling. No scrimmage was held, but the coach had four men on the floor at a time, trying to work through an opposing five man defense. This is one of the best workouts a team can have, as in modern basketball every good team uses this form of defense.

Art Koff is not yet back in uniform after his accident last week, and it seems probable that Philpotts will take his place at centre. Phil has had a lot of experience in college basketball and will undoubtedly take care of the centre position well. On the defense Hilton Quackenbush and Blumstein should be able to hold practically any forwards in check. Each of these men played on last year's seniors team and work very well together. The playing of Hilton last Saturday was one of the features of the game and he was the only McGill man who played the entire time.

The forward line will be much strengthened by the addition of Turple who was out with water on the knee last week. While he did not play senior basketball last year, he was a regular two years ago and is probably the best forward on the squad this year. He is ably supported by Davis and Boucher on the attack. Boucher played the last couple of games with the seniors last year, and is playing a fast game now. Although a trifle light, he is a tricky player and handles the ball well.

Latest reports from Dartmouth seem to indicate that they have an exceptionally good team this year. The game with McGill is the first on their schedule and will be played in the Alumni Gymnasium. The probable line-up of the U. S. team will be: Friedman and Pickens, forwards; Dey, centre; Goas, and Sallor, guards. Of these Friedman and Sallor are playing their third year on the Varsity while Pickens and Dey are playing for the first time in senior company. They were both regulars onto the freshman team of last year. Besides these regulars the Green and White have a ready supply of substitutes and are looking forward to a good season. No advance word has been heard from Vermont but they are among the best in the New England States, there is no doubt they will field a first class team.

The McGill men will leave here on Friday morning at 8:30 and play Dartmouth on the same evening. From Hanover they will proceed to Vermont, meeting the University of Vermont on Saturday and returning to Montreal on Sunday. This will be the only trip to the States this year as there is to be no Xmas trip. A return game has been arranged with Vermont in Montreal, and will take place on the 25th of Feb. This trip will be excellent practice for the squad and will give Coach Van Wagner a chance to correct any bad points before the intercollegiate schedule begins.

AFTER COLLEGE, WHAT?

"What to do! What to do!"

Like twinges of an evil conscience the prospect of choosing one's life work begins to trouble the juniors and like mortal sin it holds the seniors for fast in its grip. To help students down this inevitable antagonist, the Committee on the Choice of Vocations came into being, and has done excellent work in the past.

The college, like the cloister, tends to draw a man out of the real world where there are care. Within the seclusion of its moss-grown walls the student of scholarly tastes is prone to exalt the reality of books, and to look down upon the world of fact, of which his much prized books are but reflections. Hence arises the conflict between the ideal and the real, between thought and action, between college training and life in the world. True education leads out of this confusion. College should teach a man to think clearly, to view problems in their entirety and not to be misled by appearances of isolated facts. Action is the ultimate end of it all.

BRITISH STUDENTS TO VISIT CANADA

Will attend McGill Summer School

That the desire on the part of students to visit other lands is not confined to Canadian and American Universities appears from a communication from Col. Bovey, who announces that arrangements are being completed whereby a party of British students are to visit Canada next summer to take advantage of the special course in French, which is given at McGill every year.

This proposed visit marks a rather unique period in the history of Canadian Institutions of learning. It helps to confirm our belief that there is a keen interest being taken by British students in our methods and the contribution, which we can make towards their education. The course of French studies at McGill have attracted increasing attention since their inauguration.

Col. Bovey reports that it is the intention of this party to leave England on June 13th, arriving at Quebec June 20th, where they will spend two days before proceeding to Montreal, where they will remain from June 23rd until the completion of the summer course July 30th.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate the women students at the Royal Victoria College and the men at Strathcona Hall.

It is estimated that the cost per student will not exceed that of a trip from England to Dijon or the South of France.

FIRST SENIOR HOCKEY GAME NEXT MONDAY

BEAUBIEN SERIES

Athletic Board Coupons Will Not be Accepted for Entrance

The first senior hockey fixture is to be played on Monday next with the University of Montreal. The game will be held in the old Mount Royal Arena as it is the home game for the U. of M. consequently the Athletic Board coupons will not be good for this fixture but it is expected that a specially reduced rate of 35 cents will be available for McGill students.

The first game is the first of the Beaubien series in which McGill and U. of M. compete for a cup presented which was won by McGill last year, by Senator Beaubien. The trophy, must be contended for till one team has won it three times before it remains permanently with either of the contestants.

All the men are working hard and the competition for places on the regulars is very keen. As yet, however no definite statement can be made as to the lineup on Monday. Probably the hardest to choose is the goalers as both Cameron and Reid have been tending their nets excellently all week. Jack Mickle and Buzz Hayes are working hard for centre. Art Abbott and the two Bills for right wing and McNaughton Sullivan and Whelan on left wing. The best material is on the defense where Rog. McMahon, Don Smith and Hugh O'Donnell are starring.

The first game of the regular intercollegiate schedule comes on Sat. Jan. 10 when the Red and White meet U. of Montreal. Unfortunately it has been found impossible to arrange enough games in Boston to make a trip there during the holidays worth while, but a game at Dartmouth has been arranged for the 25th of February. The rest of the intercollegiate fixtures are printed below.

Sat. Jan. 10 U. of M. at McGill
Fri. Jan. 16 U. of M. at Queen's
Sat. Jan. 17 McGill at Varsity
Fri. Jan. 23 McGill at U. of M.
Sat. Jan. 24 Varsity at U. of M.
Sat. Jan. 31 U. of M. vs Varsity
Sat. 31 Queen's at McGill
Fri. Feb. 6 Varsity vs Queen's
Sat. Feb. 7 McGill at U. of M.
Sat. Feb. 14 Varsity at McGill
Sat. Feb. 21 Queen's at U. of M.

MCGILL MEN WIN ONE OUT OF THREE

Intermediates Lose to Sun And To Westmount

JUNIORS WIN

Three McGill Teams Met Outsiders Last Night in Molson Hall

In the last of the three basketball games played last night the McGill Intermediate "A" team was defeated by a score of 23 to 23 by the Westmount A. A. A. quintette.

Play began at 10:20 and the visitors drew first blood, Black scoring from the centre of the floor. The next point also went to Westmount, on a free shot. The Red and White then began to get their combination going and after some neat play around the basket Silverman netted the ball for McGill's first counter. Another point was soon secured from one of two free shots.

After some neat combination work the Westerners worked the ball up the floor and some play around the basket was quickly followed by a tally for them. In the next ten minutes McGill was granted seven free shots in all and managed to secure two points from these, making the score five all. This was quickly followed by another basket for the Red and White.

The play then went up and down the floor for quite a while; both teams used good combination work and did not shoot until reasonably near the basket. There was no further score until a few minutes before half-time, when Westmount found the basket again. Half-time score 7-7.

The second half opened up at a somewhat faster pace, both teams evidently determined to gain an early lead. Good team-work was in evidence; snappy passing and smart checking were used by both squads. Westmount was the first to score Wolfe tallying after about five minutes play. This was followed by another basket, a few seconds later, giving the visitors a lead of four points.

On a neat pass, Lomis secured a nice shot from the six foot line, cutting this lead down to two points. Four points were then scored in rapid succession by Westmount; in both cases the player was unguarded and right under the basket. Some fast playing followed and the visitors secured another point from one of two free shots. (Continued on Page Three)

ONLY ONE SUPPER AT UNION DANCE

Plenty of Floor Space Guaranteed—Tickets Still Being Sold

Coats came off and shirts sleeves rolled when members of the Union House Committee settled down last night to the task of decorating to a further extent the Union ball room to-morrow's Christmas dance. During the course of the afternoon a load of fir trees, big and little, arrived and were taken to the upper regions of the building, where they are being used in the general decorative scheme, which is being carried out. In three corners of the room large trees, covered with strings of coloured lights, will be placed, while in the fourth corner a large face of that veteran, but much maligned Saint, Claus, will announce the numbers of the dances, with the figures in his twinkling eyes, which shine through a mass of whiskers of snowy white. Hundreds of balloons have been received also and balloons always always add to the enjoyment of a dance by their elusiveness, their beauty, and their breakability.

With one supper sitting guaranteed, the attending dancers will be given more time for chitchat and worship and with so crowding on the floor there more enthusiastically sponsors of intricate steps will be given a chance to show their ability in the ball room art.

Throughout yesterday the sale of tickets continued and with a number of purchasers, and with a number of enquires, a good crowd has been assured. It is expected moreover, that more tickets will be exchanged for the requisite four dollars a piece during the course of to-morrow.

Glenn Adney and his orchestra, who by the way are playing at this afternoon's jazz tea, will supply the music tomorrow night and the judges of syncopation will be able to listen this afternoon to what the favoured ones will hear at the Christmas Dance. An hour's jazz in the cafeteria is good but five hours at the Union party is much better.

STUDENTS UNDER THE MICROSCOPE

Truly we are living in an age of probes, investigations and enquiries. The Great War left the world a legacy of distrust which has found a convenient safety valve in declaiming against wrongs both fancied and real, which appear to have risen if not directly from social inequalities created by the vast upheaval, at least from the altered social fabric. Morbid curiosity has seized upon the occasion to delve into private affairs, and occasional tartling disclosures unduly magnified by unscrupulous persons have sufficed to give the spark of life to the latent inquisitiveness which exists in all humans to a greater or lesser degree. From the political phase, we have seen the prying process extended to financial, commercial and now even to educational institutions.

And the thing in the latter that intrigues the public is the genus student itself. Here, they say, is an organism that displays titful bursts of originality remarkable even in this hectic age. How does he function, and what impulses motivate him? Is his prime motive on the gridiron really one of devotion to his college, or is it self-glorification? Would he fight as hard if reporters did not devote columns to a well-placed kick? And again: Is delving into science leading him from orthodox religion to atheism and does not his social life conflict with his professed objective? These and scores of other questions most of which have even less grounding in fact but have fictional exploitation as their origin, are sending reporters across country to provide a curious public with an explanation of the 'modus operandi' of most perplexing mechanism—the present day student.

With but few exceptions, the vast body of students have a way of living their own lives in a frank open way, quite unmoved by the synthetic notoriety given them by a periodical press which must needs attach its fantastic chimeras upon a body concerning the inner workings of which its gullible readers know little. It may be reassuring to the large public, which is sympathetically inclined towards the Universities and the students, to see these fictional concoctions dispelled by those who have made a serious survey.

Touching upon science as a faith-wrecker, and the trepidation of parents in sending their offspring to college lest they come back with faith shattered and moral standards lowered, a professor of Philosophy and Education who has made a special study of the problem, writes: "Such fears have been unduly aroused by the lurid and distorted pictures of college life set forth in certain modern novels, and by the equally unfounded alarms of the theological calamity-howlers who see in the advance of science the wreckage of religious faith"; and the article continues—"to be sure, tragedies occur in college as elsewhere; but the outlook is not so dismal as it has been painted, and parents may rest assured that the faith and morals of their children are at least as safe in college as in any ordinary environment".

To spike the claim that sport takes too much time away from studies, the head coach of an American University which counts a heavy enrolment, points out that practically all college faculties to-day are insistent on satisfactory class work by athletes. "Every coach I know keeps after his men all the time with encouragement to do good class work. If a man is a consistent slunker we lose interest in him. It is a waste of time to train a man who cannot or will not pass in his studies, for he is sure to be removed from the squad sooner or later. No one will risk the chance of building into his football machine a man who will probably be removed at a crucial moment, possibly a few days before one of the biggest games."

And so, if we chose to take the time, we could refute other allegations of insincerity to our ideals and indifference to the graver social problems of the day. While we deprecate the activities of the sensational press, such things are best ignored.

CONDENSED COMMENT

During the remainder of this week, and until Wednesday, December 17, the Editorial Board of Old McGill 1926 is carrying on a campaign for subscriptions to this year's Annual. The Annual, published by the junior year is a book containing matter of interest to every student at the University. This year's volume is especially designed to appeal to students other than those who are in their junior year. A book such as the Annual, is one that every undergraduate should possess, for it contains a record of everything that has been done during the college year. In addition to this, the name of every registered undergraduate will appear in the book, which adds the personal touch to an already long list of advantages. This year's board is making it possible for students to obtain the book at a reduced rate, and is promising even further reductions, should circulation warrant. What with the easy method of purchase, there is absolutely no reason why every undergraduate should not own a copy of this book.

NOTICES

HOCKEY PRACTICES.

Thursday 7-8 p.m. Squads A. and B.
Saturday 12-1 p.m. Squad A.

Will all members of the Choral Society please note that the practice will be at 7.30 this week and will be for one hour only. Every member is requested to be present as the new music is expected to be ready and it is imperative that this be well in hand before the holidays. Tenors are especially asked to make a point of being in their places.

MAN WANTED.

A student who can operate an Underwood typewriter may earn some money by typing for the Editorial Board of Old McGill 1926. The work is so arranged as not to conflict with studies. Applicants should see the Business Manager at the Annual Room at 5.00 p.m. to-day or to-morrow.

SOCIAL WORKER'S TEA

Friday afternoon, December 12th, the McGill Undergraduate Society for the School of Social Workers will hold a "Christmas tea".

Mr. George Clarke, General Secretary of the Family Welfare Association will be the speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Clarke is a very interesting and humorous speaker, and a full attendance at this meeting is expected.

CLASS GROUPS

A fee of seven dollars ($7.00) will be collected at the time that the group is taken. This covers both the cost of the negative and insertion in the annual (full page). Proofs will be on view at the Annual Board room. Through a special arrangement groups pictures, when ordered through the Annual Board, will be obtainable at the reduced rate of ONE DOLLAR. This is a saving of twenty-five cents per copy, over last year. It will be necessary for the class president to remit in advance for the pictures desired, in order that this substantial saving may be effected. The pictures will be taken in front of the respective buildings.

REPARATIONS QUESTION UP FOR DEBATE

Political Economy Club Meet To-night

DAWES' PLAN

Two Papers on Momentous International Problem

The Political Economy Club will hold its third meeting of the session to-night in Room 14 of the Arts Building. Papers on "The Dawes Plan" will be delivered by J. H. Blumenstein, B.A., and W. W. Goforth, B.A., Graduate Fellows in Economics and Political Science. Both are exceptionally well qualified for their task. Owing to the widespread discussion which the plan has aroused, everyone is more or less familiar with its provisions. Their probable effects, and the difficulties which must be overcome, are less generally realized. Will the Plan work? If not, can it be made workable. Are there alternative schemes? Or is the reparations question hopeless in the present state of national feeling?

All this, and much more, will be dealt with by the speakers, and when the meeting is thrown open by the members of the Club and their guests. Besides Drs. Leacock, Hemmick, and Day, and Prof. Parthing, it is expected that Sir Andrew Macphail, Kt., O.B.E., etc. Prof. of McGill History and distinguished man of letters, will be present. Sir Andrew was for several years with the Canadian Army overseas, and is intimately acquainted with conditions in the occupied territories.

The evening promises to be of unusual interest, and every student of international relations, or of political and economic questions, is strongly urged to attend.

SWIMMING TURNOUT MOST ENCOURAGING

Twenty aspirants for the swimming team turned out for the practice in the K. of C. natatorium last night. The new men are showing up very well, and nearly all old men who have not graduated have turned out. The whole team seems to be getting in fine condition for the coming meet.

The speed swimmers had a good workout and covered the distances in good time. The back stroke men had their usual tryout and spent a good deal of time in practicing the turn. Long distance plunging was also stressed, and it is expected that the men will soon make the length of the tank in their plunges. A good deal of plain and fancy diving was done and several are showing up well.

The polo team was out for a short practice but as there were few men present, goal practice and combination was considered more important and the mermen did not indulge in the usual game.

All men who have done any swimming before and those who are interested are asked to come down to the usual practice on Friday and Mr. Fernot wishes all the polo team to turn out also.

STRAINS OF MUSIC PERVADED UNION

Rooters' Band Held Enthusiastic Practice Yesterday Afternoon

The usual calmness of the Union House was again shattered yesterday afternoon when the Rooters' Band held another of its enthusiastic practices. The strains of music which filtered down from the ball-room seemed to produce a wonderful effect on the building and its inhabitants. Many a fellow engaged in an interesting game of pool or pocket billiards began to feel more confidence in himself to win his game while he was unconsciously keeping time to the music with his feet. Those in the Cafeteria, doing justice to their mid-day snack seemed to beat the time of the music with their jaws; and even the shoe-shine artist in the basement, put more vim into his work as the strains filled his blood.

Bob Logan, the director of the band, put the players through a good hour's practice, running through such favorites as the Victory March of the University of Minnesota and Colonel Bogey's March. All those listening to the music, seemed to be carried back to the warm rugby days, and visualized themselves marching again behind the band with pride swelling their chests, on their way to the stadium. However, the band will be heard again soon at the forthcoming hockey games and no doubt will do a great deal to inspire our men to victory.

The first game at which they will play will be that between the University of Montreal and McGill on Jan. 10. It is also certain that the McGill Musicians will play at some of the professional games at the For-

MOOT COURT HELD INTERESTING SESSION

An interesting though somewhat prolonged session of the Moot Court of McGill University was held last evening in the Law Library.

Owing to the indisposition of the remaining members of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council the controversial litigation of Burstall and Robinson was heard before Mr. Emery Beaulieu K. C. The Court Officers in the persons of Crier and Clerk were represented by proxy, having been granted special leave of absence owing to the informal nature of the surroundings wherein the session was held.

The Appellant Burstall, was represented by Spector and O'Donnell and the Respondents by Common and Metcalfe. The case was concerned with the question of the propriety of hypothermia when daily registered as under the laws of Quebec.

Interesting arguments pro and con were advanced by Counsel for both sides and listened to by a comparatively large audience.

The question was taken 'en deliber' and the Court adjourned with an assurance that judgement would be rendered shortly.

DANGER AHEAD

He did not fear the siren
With her mass of midnight hair;
With wicked drooping eyelids,
And a blasé worldly air;
But, oh, he crossed his fingers
And he breathed a little prayer
When he met a blonde-haired cutie
With a blue-eyed baby stare.

MEETING TO-DAY OF R.V.C. MUSIC CLUB

Programme Deals With National Songs

The R.V.C. Music Club will have the privilege this afternoon of hearing vocal and instrumental selections by several talented performers who have entertained the Club at previous meetings.

Mrs. H. K. Harris, formerly Miss K. James, who was the first president of the R. V. C. Music Club when it was formed two years ago, will play two piano selections by Brahms.

The programme will be devoted chiefly to the presentation of national songs of various countries. A paper on this subject will be read by Miss Madeleine De Blois, and national songs will be sung as solos, duets and choruses.

Miss Glenna Griggs of the McGill Conservatorium, who delighted the audience with her solos at the last meeting of the Club, will again perform. The other soloists will be Miss Jean Banford and Miss Jean Kyle.

Tea will be served at the close of the programme. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance this afternoon at four o'clock in the R.V.C. Common Room.

DR TAIT ADDRESSED ELECTRICAL LUNCHEON

Speaking at a luncheon of the Electrical Club of Montreal at the Queen's Hotel yesterday, Dr. W. D. Tait, head of the department of Psychology at McGill, treated with the relationship of Psychology to Business.

The speaker went on to liken the business institution to the human organism, beginning with the brain, and its system of intercommunication by nerve and impulse, and he drew an illustrative analogy between it and the telephone exchange, through which the most remote, and isolated agencies of the institution or corporation were controlled, and administered.

In the application of the new science of business psychology, the speaker pointed out that numerous corporations in the United States had been quick to grasp its significance; by its intelligent application they had instituted enormous economies in effort, had reduced the numbers employed, increased general efficiency, and secured profitable financial economy to the lasting benefit of all.

In putting systems of business psychology into practical execution, Professor Tait was of the opinion that it was a process to be left severely to the hands of experts, and the best authorities were, to his mind, those respectively and intensively engaged in the corporation where the changes were to be made.

B. H. Ross, president of the institution presided.

STANSTEAD COLLEGE TO INITIATE CAMPAIGN

The many friends and well-wishers of Stanstead College, at McGill will undoubtedly watch with interest the results of the campaign which is now underway to raise funds with which to carry on the good work.

Stanstead College has for fifty years been supplying the needs of a large section of Rural Quebec in so far as a High School and Preparatory School is concerned. She has served a noble purpose for the young men and women of the English speaking sections of the province by placing within their reach a well equipped boarding school. From this school many of her graduates have come to McGill to complete their courses in professional training.

At a meeting of friends of Stanstead, held at the Windsor Hotel in October, a local committee was formed to co-operate in the Stanstead College Jubilee Campaign. This committee requested that Mr. Wm. Hanson act as Honorary Treasurer for the Montreal district. Mr. Hanson has accepted this responsibility and his experience will be a very valuable aid to this committee.

Fists, Falls and Foils

About thirty-five turned out for wrestling last night. This was the last practice before the Gunn Trophy Meet for freshmen which starts Thursday. The freshmen are not coming out the way they should if they expect a good showing in their meet. The more experienced men are training hard for the Invitational Meet the 15th of this month but there still one or two of them who fail to put in an appearance as often as desired.

Comparatively few freshmen so far have signified their willingness to enter little sporting competition for the glory of their faculty. This is the case with the boxers as well as with the wrestlers. The entry list will be open until today to give all those who did not hear of the meet before or take a long time up their minds, a last minute chance to enter. Names are to be handed in to the representatives in shots. McGill then staged a rally and found the basket four times within some five minutes. Rafolovitch secured the first by a long shot and then Loomis scored three times in succession, displaying very clever foot-work and great accuracy in shooting.

The remainder of the game was very fast and Westmount tallied twelve more points while the Red and White managed to get four more.

Final score: Westmount 28 McGill 22.

MACDONALD vs MCGILL JUNIORS

This was the first game of the evening and started at eight o'clock. Neither team scored in the first ten minutes and long shots were quite frequent. Issenman secured the first basket, for McGill, and Macdonald opened up a few minutes later, when Bennett scored. This was followed by a free shot being netted by each team.

A neat shot from the centre of the floor gave the Red and White the next two points. The visitors, however, soon obtained the lead by scoring twice in rapid succession. The play became faster towards the end of the first half and both squads scored several times; at half-time the score was Macdonald 8, McGill 11.

The visitors opened the second half by scoring within a few minutes but were unable to keep up the pace. McGill showed up well in this period and scored another thirteen points, while Macdonald were unable to find the basket again. Play however became rather loose towards the end, and free shots were numerous; on the whole the home team displayed better team work.

Final score Macdonald 31 McGill 24

SUN LIFE vs MCGILL INT. "B"

At 9.20 p. m. these two teams went on the floor and the opening pace was fast and furious. The visiting team scored first, from a long shot. Free shots were dealt out quite often during the next ten minutes, but not many of them were scored. This pace continued during the remainder of the first half; the Sun Life had a practically invincible defence and showed excellent combination work, although a tendency at times to try long shots.

The Red and White men played up very well and showed good team-play. At half-time the score was: Sun Life 15 McGill 8.

The second half opened up with a series of free shots, most of them, however, being missed. Both teams played very hard in this period and some of the best basketball of the evening was seen then. McGill bucked up considerably and were at their best towards the end. They cut down the visitors' lead from seven to three points, the final score being Sun Life 23, McGill 20.

Science—A. K. Hart	Med.—M. M. Ross

The preliminary bouts will be held to-day at five o'clock. The final will be held Saturday at the same time in the same place. There will be eight classes in both boxing and wrestling—112—118—126—135—147—158—175 and heavyweight. Two pounds is allowed in each division. The faculty getting the most points gets the Gunn Trophy Cup for the year.

GHOST WALKS AT PHARMACY ANNUAL DANCE

Novel Entertainment While Orchestra Lunches

GOOD MUSIC

Fifty-six Couples Bear Wit- ness to Dance's Success

Sixty-five couples, dancing to the strains of the Blue Jacket Orchestra bore witness to the success of the Pharmacy Department's Annual Dance, held last night in the New Medical building. In order to bring the price within the reach of the thinnest pocketbook, the tickets were sold for the nominal sum of one dollar which was made possible by the students doing their own catering.

By way of diversion while the orchestra were fortifying the inner man a musical program was put on by several local artists. Miss Kreman rendered a highly appreciated piano solo, Miss Davis, a well known Montreal vocalist, sang several selections, Mr. Katz gave a cello solo, and Mr. Silver a very much enjoyed monologue.

At midnight a rather terrifying diversion was staged when the lights were suddenly extinguished. Immediately there was a loud report and for several seconds the hall was flooded with a dazzling light and before the dancers had recovered from the shock an eerie skull, sans body and limbs, was beheld advancing down the hall. It was feared at first that the spectre was one of the ghostly denizens of the dissecting room who had come to be revenged on those who had been taking liberties with his mortal remains, but, much to those who had taken refuge behind the piano, and to the amusement of those who were in the know, when the lights were turned on the skull was found to be only a hydrogen filled balloon with a skull painted on it in luminous paint. The dance immediately following was the best of the evening, for the orchestra, having not yet recovered from their fright gave the music a beautiful tremolo effect.

Much credit is due Mr. L. Sherman and the executive for the smooth way in which the proceedings were conducted. Especial credit is due Miss A. Musgrove for her efficient handling of the refreshments, and her hard work towards making the dance a success.

Among the members of the staff present were Dr. McLean, Dr. Hatcher and Miss J. Symonds. Dr. Moore was unable to be present having been called out of the city on business.

AN INEXPENSIVE HOLIDAY IN EUROPE

How often have you longed to see for yourself the beauty of the Old World—the scenes of events which have been turning points of history—the wonderful old ruins, the art galleries, museums, universities and schools? These tours are placing a holiday in Europe within the reach of all. Everything has been arranged with a view to enabling Students, Teachers and friends to visit the points of interest under the direction of experienced conductors. On the ships chosen, the third cabin sections provide a degree of ease and comfort which appeals to people of culture and refinement. The very nature of the tour ensure you congenial fellow-travellers. All third cabin accommodation on these tours is reserved exclusively for members of the touring party.

Three Educational Tours to BRITAIN-HOLLAND-BELGIUM-FRANCE

The first party leaves Montreal June 19 on the Anchor-Donaldson liner "Athenia" for Glasgow, under the direction of Guy Tombs Ltd., returning to Montreal on the Cunarder "Aurora" from Liverpool, July 24.

The second party, under the auspices of W. H. Henry Ltd., leaves Montreal June 27 on the "Aurora" for Cherbourg, returning to Montreal on the Cunarder "Aurora" from Liverpool, July 24.

The third party leaves Montreal July 3, under the management of Guy Tombs Ltd., on the Anchor-Donaldson liner "Lutitia" for Scotland, returning on the Cunarder "Aurora" from Liverpool, July 24, to Montreal.

The two days sail to the sea, on the calm and wonderfully picturesque St. Lawrence, adds enjoyment to the trip.

TYPES vs. INDIVIDUALS

"Keeping the student busy at his highest natural level of achievement," the slogan advocated by Dean C. E. Scammon of the University of Iowa, a recent campus visitor, is perhaps the most concrete statement of the modern trend of education—the trend which Woodrow Wilson foresaw while president of Princeton University and which cost Alexander Melikiejohn his presidency of Amherst college. Though these instances would indicate that the ancient censure visited upon advanced thought of any age is still with us, it seems inevitable from present indications that overwhelming approval of the great majority of modern educators will gradually drown out the insistent cries of the "old school" advocates.

In a late issue of the New York Times announcement is made that the University of Michigan has recently installed a permanent university fellow of letters whose work will be to encourage and assist those students who show special ability in writing. Robert Frost, a New England poet, has been selected for the permanent position by Marion L. Buntin, president of the University, after having acted in that capacity for the past two years. Mr. Frost is a writer of some note, having received the Pulitzer prize at one time for his book of verse.

It is a significant fact that previous to his work at Michigan Mr. Frost was engaged as professor of literature at Amherst—that institution which derives particular fame from the achievements of Melikiejohn.

In the addition of Mr. Frost to its faculty roster, Michigan has taken a definite step towards accomplishing those ends which Melikiejohn and Wilson so earnestly hoped for. Namely—the education of the individual rather than the standardizing of a type. Other colleges of the country will doubtless follow, and within a few years—we are almost certain when we think of the possibilities of the future generations.

One of our greatest scientists once said "If I might have one wish, I should like to return to earth one hundred years from now just to see and marvel at the advances made in science."

PHARMACY ONCE MORE VICTORIOUS

Defeats Arts I in Fast Basketball Game

The pharmacy basketball team emerged once more victorious from a well earned game with Arts I which terminated with a score of 27 to 18. The game was fast from beginning to end and was by no means as one-sided as the final score might indicate.

The Arts five got away to a good start in the first ten minutes of play and were leading their opponents by 8 points. This lead however was quickly reduced towards the end of the period when the Pharmacy combination got working. At the end of the period the score stood 12 all.

Early in the second half Pharmacy assumed a lead and though the Arts team played hard they were unable to break up the Pharmacy plays. Long shots were frequently tried by both teams but with little success. For the Pharmacy team Cohen and Krasnoff were the outstanding players and did the large share of the scoring. For Arts Addie and Spence did most effective work. Final score 27-18.

Joe Tanzman handled the game.
